Reminder: File now!

Income tax filing deadline is tomorrow

St. Paul, Minn. – The April 15 income tax filing deadline is tomorrow and the Minnesota Department of Revenue is reminding you to file your tax return on-time. The department encourages individual taxpayers to electronically file (e-file) their tax returns and choose direct deposit.

“Electronic filing is the best way to reduce errors in your return,” said Assistant Commissioner Terri Steenblock. “People that e-file and choose direct deposit receive refunds much faster than those who paper file.”

You can choose to have your tax refund deposited directly into your bank account for free, whether you file taxes on paper or electronically. All you need to do is select “direct deposit of your refund” when filing your income tax return.

If you still need to file, a list of software products for electronically filing is on our website.

The due date for filing state returns is Tuesday, April 15, 2014.

If you owe, you can file electronically and schedule your electronic payment for April 15. To make a payment using our free e-Services system, click here.

Want to check the status of your refund? You can check the status on our website or by calling 651-296-4444 or 1-800-657-3676.
